Currently Competing In: Ligier European Series – finished 3rd in championship

Main Objective: To Win The Le Mans 24H

Light Information:

This year I have been competing in the super competitive and professional formula, the Ligier European Series driving the LMP4 where I have had the opportunity to get my first taste of European tracks, serious competition and including racing and standing on the podium of the Le Mans 24h.

Not only have I learnt valuable racing skills such as set up and engineering knowledge, but also being able to communicate with my engineer. I have also been able to network with many people and teams within the paddock.

Racing since September 2020 with no prior racing experience, I competed in 12 'grass root' races in a Mazda MX-5 where I learnt car control and race craft in a field of over 30 cars.

My first major race was in January 2021 in the Dubai 24H where we were able to finish third.

After completing a full year racing in the Mazda MX-5 in 2021 and finishing 5th out of 50+ competitors in the championship I moved to Dubai.

I competed in the Gulf Radical Cup over the winter of 2021/22. Racing in a competitive field which included the current British GT Champion Ian Loggie and 2022 ELMS LMP3 3rd place Alex Bukhanstov winning the championship and breaking a series of lap records.

I returned to the UK in 2022 to compete in the Ligier European Series and in between race weekends I have been improving my race knowledge and coaching skills by working at Brands Hatch as an MSV Instructor with Peter Alexander being the head instructor. In addition, I have spent many hours with my coach James Winslow, going through ample amounts of data and hours of video helping me to understand on how to improve my race skills which will help me in the future with my coaching career.
